About the Authors

TYLER SEXTON serves as chair of pediatrics and as a physician in hyperbaric medicine and wound care at Singing River Hospital in Pascagoula, Mississippi.

Since 2003, Tyler has also been an international motivational speaker, raising awareness about the adversity faced by people with disabilities and encouraging an attitude of achievement regardless of the disability or situation. He also mentors children with disabilities.

He's been featured in numerous books, articles, and radio and television broadcasts, including ABC's 20/20, The 700 Club, The God Squad, Hour of Power, The Helpline, and the Focus on the Family broadcast.

Tyler works with special interest groups, educating them in the field of hyperbaric medicine, and treats countless individuals suffering from decompression illness in the United States and abroad. He also specializes in bringing hyperbaric medical clinics to underserved parts of the world.

He's an American College of Hyperbaric Medicine-approved training provider and the vice president of the American College of Hyperbaric Medicine. He's also a member of the American Professional Wound Care Association and has achieved the status of "Master," a designation recognizing key opinion leaders who have positively influenced wound care through education, research, and advocacy.

In addition to being a certified hyperbaric wound specialist, a certified hyperbaric technologist, and a diver medic technician, Tyler also holds certificates of added qualification in hyperbaric medicine and wound care by the American Board of Wound Healing.

LISA SEXTON has been featured on Hour of Power, The 700 Club, and The Helpline, and has also contributed to the Focus on the Family magazine. In her writing as well as her speaking engagements, Lisa offers a mother's personal insight about having a child with disabilities. From the initial fears of pregnancy to the heartache of being told your child isn't "perfect," Lisa addresses the blessings of motherhood and the challenges all mothers face on different levels.
